

Remote & Dangerous

Safety | Respect | Self Leadership

KEY TAKEAWAYS

- Bacon Wars - why every organisation has a coffee cup sign in the kitchen and what it means about safety
- Plane Crash - how to bounce-back from setbacks
- Lead from where you are - how people can show great leadership even if they aren't formally a "leader"
- No Triangles - communication tools that build respect
- Antarctic Winter - how to maintain a safety focus for the long haul
- Respect Trumps Harmony - why a nice culture is dangerous

ABOUT RACHAEL

Rachael Robertson CSP, MBA

- Rachael is the most booked female speaker in the Asia-Pacific region
- 20 years leadership experience in challenging corporate environments
- She was just the 2nd Female Antarctic expedition leader to Davis Station
- At 32, she was Victoria's youngest ever Chief Ranger
- Rachael has worked with more than 1500 organisations around the globe

- ▶ Rachael is able to present her keynote both in person and online using her state of the art broadcast studio on a number of platforms. Please contact Rachael's team to discuss what option works best for you.

Practical tools for increased safety leadership

Every workplace presents unique challenges to people and their employers. Teams must have a culture of safety and respect. Safety Management Systems alone are not enough. Each individual in the team must have the ability to influence and persuade those they work with and show safety leadership. Rachael Robertson successfully shaped a resilient, safe and successful team in the most remote and dangerous workplace in the world, Antarctica.

Antarctica is an isolated and inherently dangerous environment. Strangers are thrown together 24x7 and live in complete isolation, with nowhere to run and nowhere to hide. Mental and physical safety is paramount, but so is the requirement to meet targets, be productive and efficient.

Rachael Robertson faced these challenges head-on with the team she was given. She created a culture characterised by respect and safety and now delivers her unique stories and tools to organisations that know personal resilience and an open culture are key factors for staff health and safety. Her presentation is memorable, full of hilarious stories and unique insights.

PRAISE FROM BUSINESS LEADERS

"We enjoyed the presentation immensely. A terrific balance of stories and safety lessons. Rachael made them credible by relating them to our day to day workplace." Chevron

"Rachael's safety insights were spot-on, practical and eminently useful. Fantastic presentation." BHP-Billiton

"Rachael's warm, down to earth nature were themes that were repeated in the positive feedback we've received and would have to be among Rachel's best assets." Worley Parsons Group